Dear summer school selection committee:

I am a student of program Information and control technology in the agro-food complex on the Engineering faculty for almost 4 years. During these years I passed many exams, met a lot of people from Czechia and abroad, and found out plenty of new things. Currently, I am working on semestral projects about programming and IT. I spend my free time developing new skills or helping my parents with manual work.

I always looking for opportunities to educate myself and I think a summer school is a cool place where I could improve more skills at once. It could be the best way how to understand the world like complex. Seeing differences between our and Medan technology will change my point of view on agronomy work and our country.

I hope I will develop solid skills that will help me with writing my master thesis and living life after university, such as independency, information searching, and mental resilience.
